WELCOME

I'm Emily, I live in Barrow and I'm a Trustee and a local Facilitator for Suicide Bereavement Support (SBS) in Cumbria and the surrounding areas.

When my partner David died, I didn't know what had hit me or my family, let alone where to go for help. Now, over a decade later, I know that support is there for the suicide bereaved in Barrow-in-Furness. Barrow has certainly had its challenges, but it is a town with a heart of gold, ready to offer anyone who asks skilled support and a listening ear as well as a comforting hug!

“Suicide is often the culmination of a complex history of risk factors and distressing events. The impact on families, friends and communities is devastating and long-lasting.” ****

As someone who is myself bereaved, I can fully identify with this statement. It is taken from a report by Manchester University and comes from research that involved contributions from over 7,000 people who were suicide bereaved.

If you have been bereaved (whether through suicide or not, and no matter how long ago) and are looking for support along one of the toughest journeys you will ever embark on, then this directory could be a vital lifeline. Originally created for the Supporting Each Other Through Loss event, held at The Forum Barrow in October 2022, it aims to connect you with the organisations and resources you might need. Equally, if you work, volunteer or support others in this sphere, then the directory will connect you with other services. Some are specific to our community but many work across Cumbria and beyond.

I hope that it will be useful and, on behalf of Barrow, I offer you a warm virtual hug and, I hope, lots of connections to the support that's out there.

Emily

EVENT SPEAKERS

Andy Airey – 3 Dads Walking

www.3dadswalking.uk

Andy Airey lost his daughter, Sophie, to suicide in 2018 and, ever since, he has been committed to raising funds for the suicide prevention charity, PAPYRUS, and raising awareness of suicide among young people.

You might recognise Andy's name or face from the 3 Dads Walking initiative. In the summer of 2021, Andy, along with Mike and Tim, walked 300 miles from Morland in Cumbria to King's Lynn in Norfolk.

They walked again throughout September 2022, visiting the parliaments in the four nations of the UK as part of a campaign to highlight the fact that suicide is the biggest killer of young people across the entire UK. They are also asking for suicide awareness to be included in the curriculum for PSHE at secondary level.

Andy will be opening our Supporting Each Other Through Loss event in Barrow.

Bev Bishop – Finding Magic

beverleybishop.com

Bev is a creative practitioner who specialises in performances and films that are thought provoking and personal. Her work is often but not always autobiographical and, whilst it often focuses on difficult subjects, her aim is that it is always hopeful, quirky and embedded in humour.

After the death of her son, Jess, Bev thought she'd never find her magic again. Finding Magic is a remarkably uplifting true story of personal survival and triumph and it shows how she survived her grief and found new hope.

Equal parts moving and magical, Finding Magic is a captivating story of loss, longing, love, laughter and solace.

Bev will be hosting a showing of her Finding Magic presentation on film and then a discussion during the morning session of the Barrow event. She will also lead a workshop for those bereaved by suicide, sharing her insights and approach, in the afternoon.

Over the years, within our Facebook Group, SBS members have shared many experiences and ideas on what helps in the toughest times.

Some of these suggestions are quoted here.

We dedicate this booklet to these most generous, caring and strong people.

Listening to music, songs, podcasts and reading poetry or books with special meaning • Contributing to training groups eg police, counsellors
 No pressure on yourself to have 'perfect' family events • Meeting relevant organisations and working for change that could help others
 Take one day at a time, don't be too hard on yourself, accept there will be tearful times • Screaming (inside or out (ouch!))
 Writing prose or poetry • Making music • Making a special blanket or cushion from loved ones' clothing
 Trying to avoid difficult thoughts and triggers • Physical activity (often linked to fundraising)
 Be a mental health champion • Welcoming new family babies and other special events
 Distracting yourself • Fundraising for suicide prevention charities or SBS

Some things that help...

Being a part of the SBS, meetings, the closed Facebook group and being able to share pictures and thoughts with others who understand, without any reservations
 A thought diary: writing some of the not so nice things down when they come into your head (if the same thought reoccurs, say 'already wrote that down')
 Organisations such as Compassionate Friends, Winston's Wish (including camps for children) and Suicide Bereavement UK • Cuddling pets
 Company of family and friends • Focusing on positive things you did to help your loved one, not the things you wish you'd done
 Grief counselling from the local hospice, Cruse, First Steps, Samaritans (6-week course) and EMDR
 Memorial acts eg at family events, Cruse dedication page, Every Life Matters candlelit vigils
 Self care: try not to get too stressed/over tired • Apps eg Insight (help with sleep)

More things that help...

Thank You

Emily, SBS Trustee and Event Lead, would like to send a special note of thanks to the following:

Every stall holder here, as individuals and organisations have given us 100% support that this event is not only worthwhile, but necessary. Thank you for caring so much.

To the organisations who have helped publicise the event, because you know this is important, again too many to mention, thank you.

Andy Airey, Bev Bishop and Simon Fell MP have again been 'on side' from the initial concept.

"When we were planning this and I was having a little panic, Andy and the other 'dads' were planning their mammoth walk, but he took time out for an encouraging chat, telling me to 'Keep calm and do the next thing on your list'. Good advice Andy!"

Thank you to the Hadfield Trust for a grant towards the cost of the day – apparently I was the first person on the day the awards were announced to scream 'Aaargh! Fantastic, I love you guys!' down the phone.

To the group and individual who also contributed, but preferred to be anonymous, I hope you feel the money is well spent.

Joanne Marwood, on behalf of the Forum, is just fabulous.

Volunteers and 'friends' of SBS have all contributed to the day, again, too many to mention.

Hazel and Sally, who provide us with admin and PR support have put in huge amounts of work.

Finally, on behalf of all of us at SBS, we thank everyone who has lost a loved one for joining with us today, because its connecting with you that's most important. We hope you have got something from today.
